ASI Distinguished Speaker Series presents

Jon Foley Executive Director of Drawdown

Dr. Jonathan Foley is a world-renowned environmental scientist, sustainability expert, author, and public speaker. In 2014, Thomson Reuters named him a Highly Cited Researcher in ecology and environmental science, placing him among the top 1 percent most cited global scientists. His presentations have been featured at National Geographic and TED, and he has written for the New York Times, the Guardian, and Scientific American.

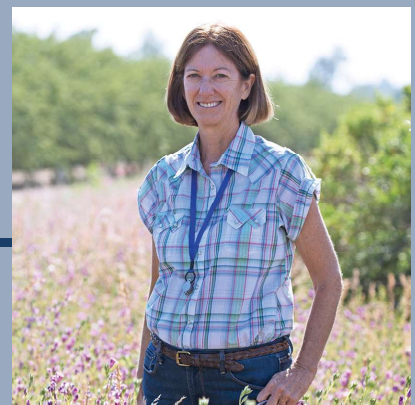

Before joining Drawdown, Dr. Foley launched the Center for Sustainability and the Global Environment (SAGE) program at the University of Wisconsin; was the founding director of the Institute on the Environment (IonE) at the University of Minnesota; and served most recently as the Executive Director of the California Academy of Sciences, the greenest science museum on the planet.
